Sensing the Past

A workshop in applied sensory archaeology and heritage assessment

Dates: 7-9 October 2021
Location: Online/Fort bij Uithoorn (NL)

Key-note speaker
Prof. Sue Hamilton (UCL)

Invited speakers
Monika Baumanova (University of West Bohemia)
Emma-Jayne Graham (The Open University)
Matthew Leonard (Cultural Heritage Institute, Swindon)
Jacqueline K. Ortoleva (University of Birmingham)
Caro Verbeek (Vrije Universiteit, Amsterdam)

Call for Abstracts
Deadline: 22 August 2021

Papers are sought that present sensory-based research of the historic built environment from any time period. Pertinent questions to address may include:

- How can sensory-based methods shift archaeological/heritage investigations?
- How do sensory approaches affect what archaeological/heritage specialists consider relevant data?
- How do practitioners manage the apparent ephemerality of sensory experiences?
- How do heritage specialists ascertain historic value of sensory observations?

Submissions to: sensory.workshop-fgw@uva.nl

More information and registration at:
www.uva.nl/sensingthepast

Organised by Pamela Jordan (UvA), Sara Mura (UvA) & Gert-Jan Burgers (VU)